

I would like to add my two cents worth here..
I don't know if anyone really reads these things, or really even gives a hoot about what us small people out here in the real world really think about issues concerning what we want or need!
But here goes anyways..

I am a professional truck driver , I own my own truck and trailer, and have been out here trucking for 15 years now, hauling everything from the food on your table to the clothes on your back.

When XM Radio first came out, I was sceptical. I waited for time to go by and to see what people had to say about it. The information that I've gathered from waiting and listening to everyone has led me to finally purchase my own XM Radio.

- 1.) I absolutly love it!!!
- 2.) I wouldn't trade it for the world!
- 3.) I can listen to what ever station/channel I choose with out the fear of loosing the signal.
- 4.) I can actually save money! Yes save money. I don't need to purchase "as many" diffrent cassettes and or Cd's as I had before just to be able to listen to a whole song all the way through!

I also love to be able to hear what the weather ahead of me (or for the next day) is going to be like. This way I can judge wheather it would be safer or wiser for me to stop or keep going.

I actually listen to political issues now. Before I felt what was the use! I Just lost signal just when Things were starting to make sense to me. I actually want to vote now, and feel more involved with the whole system.

If someone really reads this and cares at all, I would just like to thank you for listening (reading) what this "Little Person" has to say.

Thanks again, Lowell Sloan
